MODULE DESCRIPTION :

This module highlights challenges and best practices in decision-making in complex and modern organizational environments, drawing from current findings in relevant disciplines (social psychology, neuroscience, sociology, and organizational behaviour). The module addresses the main hindrances and facilitators of mindful decision-making, defined as decisions that are not only of benefit for the decision-maker him or herself but also for other people and society in general. The module has a strong focus on personal development aimed at increasing students' capabilities to reach mindful decisions at work.

CONTRIBUTION TO PROGRAMME LEARNING OBJECTIVES :

- Apply knowledge & mobilize data to analyze practical business situations and facilitate decision-making
- Identify key career drivers to build & pursue their chosen career path
- Practice and defend responsible and ethical managerial actions to contribute positively to the world

MODULE INTENDED LEARNING OUTCOMES (ILOs) :

MODULE INTENDED LEARNING OUTCOMES (ILOs):

At the end of this course, the student will be able to:

1. Describe the main challenges, biases, and best practices around individual and team decision-making in organizations.
2. Analyze the impact of different organizational practices and models in decision-making.
3. Incorporate values and responsibility into everyday decision-making at work.
4. Acquire tools to improve one's self-awareness and emotional intelligence for more mindful decisions about and at work.
5. Analyze the impact of decision-making on personal well-being as well as the well-being of others.
6. Understand how global and societal changes impact the way we make decisions.
